Office Memorandum

Subject: Revision of City Development Plans of Mission Cities under JNNURM

The undersigned is directed to say that at the time of launch of Jawaharlal Nehru National Urban Renewal Mission (JNNURM) during 2005-06 Mission cities prepared city development plans which outlined the strategies and vision for development of Urban Infrastructure and services in the Mission cities. CDP is a moving document and it requires updation keeping in view the developments in the filed of Infrastructure and Governance as well as the level of development in the cities.

Keeping in view the requirements of updation of city planning, the revised toolkit for preparation of CDP was launched on 3rd December 2009 and subsequently on 15th April 2010, States were requested to take a re-look at the current CDP.

Besides the focus on the key aspects like planning for Urban Agglomerations or Metropolitan area, comprehensive and inclusive planning, Inter-Sectoral and Intra-Sectoral linkages, issues like environment planning and sustainable development services level benchmarks and Information Technology intervention may also be considered while preparing the CDP.

The revised CDP toolkit already provided to states and cities may be used as guidance for revising current CDPs. It is also available on the Website of JNNURM. I hope that most of the cities are in the process of revising CDPs. I would also like to inform that the cost incurred by the cities on preparation of revised CDP will be reimbursed subject to availability of states allocation under JNNURM
